

Our country's strength lies in its diversity--diversity of cultures, ethnicities, religions and points of view. The same can be said of our media. We need a media that reflects the diversity of opinions and viewpoints of all Americans, not just the perspectives of Rupert Murdoch and a small handful of corporations. We need rules in place that serve the public, not private interest. The airwaves belong to us, after all. I oppose taking a vote that leads to more media consolidation. On June 2nd, I urge you to retain the current ownership rules.
